Description

This unit has been a rental for the past 8 years with my investor client since we purchased it. They are local and as you can see they have maintained this unit incredibly well. Currently there's an excellent tenant in place and they have expressed to me that they would love to stay. Great location, steady income! Instantly! or You may purchase it as an owner occupied as well. HOA has increased due to external upgrades and new ownership. This is supposed to be a temporary increase and is expected to decrease in 10 months.
